NOTICE.

---

THIS work is published with the full persuasion that the plan upon which it is written needs only to be seen to receive the hearty approbation of the public. The plan of the work, together with some of the reasons for its adoption, is fully stated in the Preface, to which the reader is respectfully referred. Great care has been bestowed upon the selection of the Music. The best tunes and harmonies and all of a rich and devotional character, have been selected from all the sources within the editor's reach. The elementary principles are written in plain language, and accompanied with illustrations.

PREFACE.

As SACRED MUSIC is one of the mediums through which man expresses his praise and devotion to the Author of his being, it is natural that the Christian community should hold it in high estimation; and considering the influence of devotional song upon all men, it would be unnatural that any should feel no interest in its promotion. But although people are almost universally pleased with music, few ever become adepts in it. This has led the author to doubt the adequacy of the old theory of writing music to enable the pupil to acquire it with any tolerable degree of ease, accuracy, or expedition. Under this impression, and influenced by a desire to contribute something towards extending a knowledge of the science, he has devoted a few years to an investigation of the principles by which music is written. This investigation has resulted in a thorough conviction that the theory is wrong in many of its principles, and complex in a majority of its methods,—hence he has undertaken to form a system upon a plan almost entirely new.

That books upon Sacred Music have been greatly multiplied within a few years, is obvious to all. MASONS' publications alone have furnished the churches with a great variety of rich devotional music. But the difficulty of acquiring music by the old system renders even these works comparatively useless. And with the experience of the past, it requires not the gift of prophecy to foretell, that while the same theory is continued, no effort to extend the boundaries of knowledge in this department of science, however energetic and well directed, will succeed, in any degree adequate to the wishes and expectations of its friends.

The author of the new system has found the old very erroneous in five particulars:

1. In the improper position of the letters on the staff, and the consequent multiplication of the letters and scales one-half.
2. In the multiplication of the number of scales one-half, by the introduction of the minor scale.
3. In the use of flats and sharps as a signature, or sign of the key, instead of the word, key, itself.
4. In nine varieties of measure, or modes of time, instead of two.
5. In a uniformity in the shape of the notes.

I. IN THE IMPROPER POSITION OF THE LETTERS ON THE STAFF.

IN the treble, the old theory places G on the second line of the staff; but in the base, it puts G on the fourth space. It has been ascertained by the fixed or stationary sounds on instruments, that the sound called G is about the centre of the compass of the voice. Hence, in the new system, this letter is placed on the third line, or middle of the staff. The error in placing the letters on the staff not only produces great confusion, but doubles the labour of the pupil; for the very letters which he has learned as they are placed on the treble, he is compelled to learn as they are placed on the base. The pupil, then, is virtually compelled to learn fourteen letters instead of seven! By the new system, all the staves are lettered alike, which greatly simplifies the means of writing and learning music. This uniformity in the position of each of the seven letters presents each part (treble, alto, tenor, and base) in its true place, or proper pitch, and gives a clear view of the combination of sounds in all the parts. Nor is this all,—for the uniformity in lettering the staves reduces the number of scales of high and low sounds one half.

To a person learning to play upon the organ or the piano-forte, the advantages of a uniformity in lettering the staves will be incalculable. The labour of the pupil will be comparatively trifling. Every teacher knows that when the pupil has the position of the letters of one staff and their relation to his instrument once fixed in his mind, he is, according to the old theory, immediately perplexed to find that C in the first staff is not C in the base staff, but E; that the central line of one staff is B, and of another is D,—in short, that the letters on both staves, and their relation to the instrument, conflict throughout, and all this while the octaves on the instrument are exactly alike. By the new system, when the pupil shall have learned the position of the seven letters on one staff, and their relation to his instrument, he has learned their position on all the staves.

II. IN THE MULTIPLICATION OF THE SCALES ONE HALF, BY THE INTRODUCTION OF THE MINOR SCALE.

THERE is no ground for such a distinction as minor scale. It answers no practical purpose whatever in writing music, consequently it should be rejected. The seven scales in the Elementary Principles, with the sharp fourth, fifth, &c., contain all the sounds, and all the intervals, of any tune that has ever been written. There is no conceivable variety of music, bold or cheerful, soft or plaintive, which cannot be written on these seven scales. This distinction should be excluded from the theory, not only because it can answer no practical purpose, but because it introduces two keys into one scale, where in reality there is but one. (See Key, Elementary Principles, page 12.) The theory of two keys makes two scales out of one, and thereby multiplies the number of scales of high and low sounds upon the staff, one half. Nor is this all: for this theory gives a double set of numerals to the same sounds and syllables. The minor scale is neither more nor less than portions of two octaves of any of the seven scales, with the sharp fourths and fifths—commencing with the sixth (lah) below the key, and ending with the sixth (lah) above it. (In practising on these minor scales the fourths and fifths are sharpened in ascending, but not in descending.) Lah is called the minor key, and all the numerals are changed,—lah is called one, see two, doe three, ray four, &c. In this way two scales are made out of one, and their number multiplied one half.

This error has originated from the fact, that the writers of music found by experience that from this range of sounds they could compose the plaintive strains of music, which they call the minor-keyed tunes. But the soft and plaintive strains of music, and the bold and cheerful strains, are produced by the difference in the combination of sounds, as may be seen by a reference to the tunes, which is the best illustration that can be given. It will be seen also, in the tunes, that the fourths and fifths are sharpened in descending as well as in ascending. Hence the pupil should practise on the scale in both ways.

The imaginary minor key forms no part of the new system. Hence the number of scales is not only reduced one half, but the great confusion arising from this double set of numerals to the same sounds and syllables is entirely prevented. Consequently, the pupil, having mastered the seven scales founded upon the seven letters occupying their seven fixed places on the staff, will find his mind no longer confused and his memory burdened with endless distinctions.

III. IN THE USE OF FLATS AND SHARPS AS A SIGNATURE, OR SIGN OF THE KEY, INSTEAD OF THE WORD, KEY, ITSELF.

To indicate on what line or space the key-note, doe, is put, the old theory employs flats and sharps at the beginning of the tune. These flats and sharps are thence denominated signatures, or signs of the key. Upon this plan the pupil is compelled to memorize the following facts :

1. If there is one sharp at the beginning of the tune, the key-note, doe, is on G.
2. If there are two sharps, the key is on D.
3. If there are three sharps, the key is on A.
4. If there are four sharps, the key is on E.
1. If there is one flat only, the key is on F.
2. If there are two flats, the key is on B.
3. If there are three flats, the key is on E.
4. If there are four flats, the key is on A.
5. But if there are neither flats nor sharps, the key is on C.

These are the signatures of the major keys. And the sixth of these major scales, which is called lah, is the minor key of each scale, remembering that the numerals are changed; lah is called one, see two, doe three, ray four, &c.

To relieve the pupil of learning, and the difficulty of retaining the complex method here presented, the author of the new system writes the word, key, itself, on the line or space on which the key-note stands.

These flats and sharps, in the old theory, also show the performer on the instrument what letters are to be played flat or sharp. But in the new system these flats and sharps are placed in the instrumental scales, to which alone they properly belong.

IV. IN NINE VARIETIES OF MEASURE, OR MODES OF TIME, INSTEAD OF TWO.

To render this point clear, it may be well to define a measure.

A measure is the space between two single bars. Written music is divided into equal portions called measures. Measures are intended to enable singers, and performers on instruments, to preserve a uniformity in the time between the different portions of the same part, and between different parts of the same piece of music.

Varieties of Measure respect the different kinds of measure, and the different kinds of notes with which the measures are filled.

The old theory has nine varieties; but as all music may be written by means of two, the new system has rejected seven of the nine as perplexing and useless. Hence the new system has but two varieties, namely, equal measure and unequal measure.

The equal measures are always filled with two half-notes, [ $\rho$   $\rho$ ] or their value. The unequal measures are always filled with three half-notes, [ $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$ ] or their value.

Equal measure is performed with two beats, that is, two motions of the hand, or foot, to the measure. Hence it is called equal time.

Unequal measure is performed with three beats, and it is called unequal time, which always gives a half-note, or its value, to the beat, whether in equal or unequal time.

These two varieties are indispensably necessary, from the fact that there is equal and unequal measured verse in poetry. Other varieties are useless, as they do not even aid in defining the time. For this truth the highest authority may be given. Professor MASON says, in his Carmina Sacra, page 7, "The example  $\frac{2}{2}$  [ $\rho$   $\rho$ ] is not necessarily either slower or quicker than  $\frac{2}{4}$  [ $\rho$   $\rho$ ];  $\frac{3}{2}$  [ $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$ ] is neither slower nor quicker than  $\frac{3}{8}$  [ $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$ ], but they are practically the same. To the eye they are different, to the ear they are alike."

Much time and labour are spent in acquiring a knowledge of the many varieties of measure which are made in the old system. But when the pupil arrives at the practice, he finds that all these varieties, which he has spent so much time to acquire, are of no practical use whatever.

The old theory has two beats to the measure, three beats, four beats, and sometimes six.

Measures to be performed with two beats have the half-note  $\frac{2}{2}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat; also the quarter-note  $\frac{2}{4}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat.

Measures to be performed with three beats have the half-note  $\frac{3}{2}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat; the quarter-note  $\frac{3}{4}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat; and the eighth-note  $\frac{3}{8}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat.

Measures to be performed with four beats, have the half-note  $\frac{4}{2}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat; and the quarter-note  $\frac{4}{4}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat.

Measures to be performed with six beats, have the quarter-note  $\frac{6}{4}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat; and the eighth-note  $\frac{6}{8}$  |  $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$   $\rho$  | or its value to the beat.

In these varieties, the pupil has a half-note ( $\rho$ ) to the beat; two beats to the half-note ( $\rho$ ); one beat to the eighth ( $\rho$ ); two eighths ( $\rho\rho$ ) to the beat; four eighths ( $\rho\rho\rho\rho$ ) to the beat: one beat to the quarter ( $\rho$ ); two beats to the quarter ( $\rho$ ); and sometimes two quarters ( $\rho\rho$ ) to the beat.

This variety of notes of different value to the beat, and the four different ways of performing the beats in the measure, render it so very difficult to keep time, and so perplexing to the mind, that the pupil often gives it up in despair, and perhaps never learns to sing or perform on an instrument correctly.

The method of writing music by the new system prevents all the evil, and accomplishes every purpose that can be needed or desired.

V. IN THE UNIFORMITY IN THE SHAPE OF THE NOTES.

The system of seven syllables used as names for the different notes in the octave, now so deservedly popular in every part of the world, has been adopted in this work. Nothing is more easily demonstrable than the superiority of this to the four-syllable system. For if any thing at all is gained by giving names to the different sounds in the octave,—and of this there can be no question,—it is easy to perceive that the nomenclature which appropriates to each sound in the octave a distinct name, must have the decided advantage over that which requires the same name to be applied to different sounds. On this plan, the association of the name and the sound—which is the great object designed in the use of names—is necessarily complete; and universally, where this system is adopted in singing-schools, the intonation is much sooner formed.

But every singer knows how difficult it is to learn to apply the seven syllables to the notes in all the seven scales with the notes all of one shape. The learner must know whether the note is doe, ray, or fah, by the lines and spaces on the staff. This he must learn in all the seven scales: for example, in the key of C, or in the C scale, doe is on C, ray on D, me on E, &c. And in the key of A, doe is on A, ray on B, me on C, &c. In short, through the seven scales, doe, as well as every other syllable in the octave, is on every line and space on the staff.

It is this which has caused so much confusion in the minds of the pupils, that some very intelligent teachers have undertaken to teach the seven scales without changing the syllables from the C scale. But this produces other serious difficulties; for upon this plan the pupil finds but one scale out of seven which is natural to his voice. If the syllables are not changed with the key, the learner is compelled to sing flats or sharps in every scale except C. But when the syllables are changed with the key, the voice rises and falls naturally in all the seven scales. Hence it is as easy for the pupil to sing in one scale as in another, which may be seen by a reference to the seven scales in the Elementary Principles. It will be seen also, in the scales, that if the syllables are not changed with the key, six of the seven scales will be as unnatural to the voice as they are to the instrument. But to relieve the mind of the learner of all this embarrassment, the new system gives a distinct figure, or form, to every note in the octave. As seven different syllables, or names, are used for the purpose of attaining the seven different sounds in the octave with greater facility, so notes of seven different forms are used for the purpose of obtaining the names immediately and with certainty.

The shape of the note is not incorporated with the science or the principles of music; the music is the same whether the notes which express it are of one form or of seven forms. The shape of the note is addressed to the memory, not to the judgment of the learner; and the less the memory is burdened with the means of expression, the more the judgment may be employed upon the sentiments expressed.

The seven figured notes clearly present to the eye not only the key itself, but the name, pitch, and length of every note in the octave, and the exact relation which each bears to the key, in all the seven scales.

The peculiarities above specified embrace the chief characteristics of this work,—whether to them shall be awarded the merit of being improvements, must be submitted to the decision of a liberal and enlightened community.

The vain design of thrusting before the world useless innovations upon the established principles of science, and of making unnecessary inroads upon the customary mode of instruction, has had no share in getting up this work. With the firm conviction that the old system, as ordinarily presented in the books, might be divested of some of its mysteries and subtleties, and a sincere desire, if possible, to contribute something towards multiplying the number of those—alas! now too few—who shall be prepared to lift up their voices in harmonious strains of praise to HIM before whom “the morning stars sang together,” the editor has done what he could, and now earnestly praying that the day may not be far distant when the multitude of those who shall be able to “sing unto the Lord a new song” may be such as “no man can number,” he cheerfully leaves the result of his labours in the hands of an impartial public.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC.

MUSICAL sounds may be considered in reference to their Pitch, Length, and Force. And upon these are founded three departments, which embrace the whole of the elementary principles of music.

Pitch regards a sound as high or low. Length, as long or short. Force, as loud or soft.

FIRST DIVISION.—PITCH.

The human voice is capable of producing eight distinct primary sounds.

In rising or falling from any given sound, the voice proceeds by regular gradation or steps.

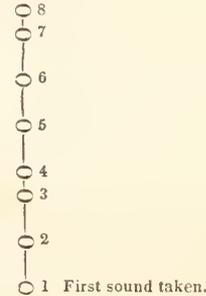

The distance between two sounds is called an interval.

The intervals throughout the whole variety of pitch, are always uniform, though not equal to one another.

Certain of these intervals are only half as great as others. Hence we have what are properly called the greater and the less intervals, which, for the sake of convenience, are denominated whole-intervals and half-intervals.

The voice, in producing the eight primary sounds ascending, naturally passes from the first sound taken, a whole-interval to the second sound; from the second sound, a whole-interval to the third; from the third sound, a half-interval to the fourth—then proceeds to the fifth, sixth, and seventh, by whole-intervals; and from the seventh, the next step is a half-interval, to the eighth, making five whole-intervals, and two half-intervals. These eight sounds and the seven natural intervals form the scale of an octave; thus:

This character, (○) called a note, represents the sounds; and the spaces between the notes represent the whole and half-intervals. From 1 to 2, from 2 to 3, from 4 to 5, from 5 to 6, and from 6 to 7, are whole-intervals— from 3 to 4, and from 7 to 8, are half-intervals.

QUESTIONS.

What three qualities belong to every musical sound? Into how many departments are the elements of music divided? What is pitch? What is length? What is force? What department does the first division embrace? How many primary sounds are there? In rising or falling from a given sound, how does the voice proceed? What is an interval? Are the intervals or steps in the voice uniform and equal to one another?

QUESTIONS.

What are the greater intervals called? What the less? In what order do the intervals occur when the voice produces the eight primary sounds ascending? Is this order natural or artificial? What is an octave? What do notes represent? What interval occurs between 1 and 2? 2 and 3? 3 and 4, &c.? What is the distance between 1 and 3? Between 1 and 4, 1 and 8, 3 and 8, &c.?

In descending, the voice naturally falls from the first sound taken a half-interval—then three whole-intervals in succession—then another half-interval—then two whole-intervals in succession—making five whole-intervals and two half-intervals.

These eight sounds and seven natural intervals form the scale of an octave descending, thus :

Thus it may be seen, the voice produces the same series of sounds, and passes over the same intervals, and forms the same scale, whether in ascending or descending an octave.

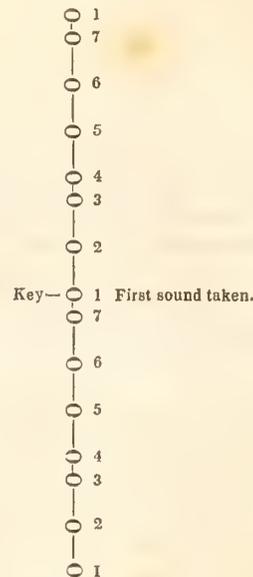

If the voice is extended either above or below the octave, it will naturally pass over the same gradation of sounds and intervals, as far as the compass of the voice extends. For example, take any sound, and raise the voice by the regular intervals an octave—then descend the octave, by the same steps, to the first sound taken—proceed an octave below—and you have a scale of two octaves in all respects similar, in each of which are eight sounds and

QUESTIONS.

By what steps does the voice proceed in forming an octave descending? Are the intervals the same in ascending and descending? What will be the result if the voice is extended above or below the octave?

seven natural intervals. The voice thus naturally forms, from the first sound taken, two octaves; and this sound becomes the key or governing sound in the ear and voice.

The figures 1, 2, 3, &c., are used to distinguish the different sounds in the octave, and designate precisely the distance of each sound from the key, and its relation to it.

QUESTIONS.

What is the key? [Ans. The governing sound in the ear and voice.] How does the voice form a scale of two octaves? Is this gradation of sounds and intervals natural or artificial? What is the use of the figures 1, 2, 3, &c.?

The key is always called 1, and the other numbers are appropriated to the sounds of the octave ascending.

The eighth sound of the octave ascending is always the first, or key of the octave above, and is therefore called 1, and the key or 1 is always the eighth of the octave below.

The key is not any particular sound; it may be of any pitch, higher or lower, and the natural rise and fall of the voice will be the same.

Neither is 2, or 5, or any other number in the scale, a particular sound except with reference to the key. Whatever may be the pitch of the key, 2 will always be one whole-interval above the key, 3 will be two whole-intervals, and 4 will be two whole-intervals and one half-interval above the key, &c.

From the fact that the voice assumes no particular pitch as the key, and always distributes all the other sounds of the octave with reference to the key, throughout the whole range of its compass, arises the necessity of having a series of fixed or stationary sounds by which to be governed.

The fixed or stationary sounds could not have been obtained in any other way than by means of instruments.

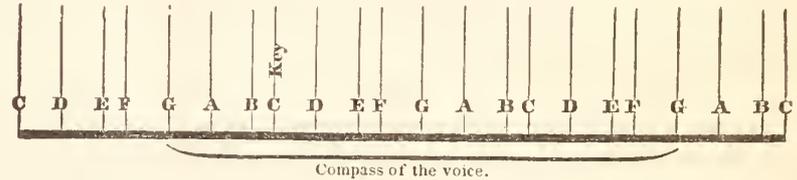

Instruments are constructed and tuned so as to please the ear; and of course are made to correspond with the sounds and intervals of the voice.

But as the ear readily distinguishes sounds both higher and lower than the compass of the voice extends, instruments are made to embrace a much wider range, extending often to six or seven octaves.

It is found by experience, that the ordinary compass of the human voice embraces about two octaves—but it is by means of instruments alone, that it is ascertained what sounds are embraced within the usual extent of its compass; and thus the sounds which the voice is capable of producing are located and specified, so that one sound may be compared with another, the instrument always being the standard of comparison.

The sounds on instruments are named after the first seven letters of the alphabet, as in the following illustration.

In this illustration, the lettered lines represent the sounds on instruments, and the spaces between the lines represent the whole and half-intervals.

The compass of the voice is indicated by the brace which extends from G to G.

We are confined to seven letters because there are only eight primary sounds and seven natural intervals.

In the application of these seven letters as names to the several sounds of the octave on instruments, it was necessary that one of the seven should be applied to the key. Any letter might have been selected; but C was the letter applied to the key.

The half-intervals, therefore, on all instruments occur between E and F, and between B and C.

QUESTIONS.

What numeral is always applied to the key? How are the other numbers appropriated? Explain the connection of the octaves? Do you mean by the key a sound of any particular pitch? Whence arises the necessity of having fixed sounds? How are fixed sounds obtained? How are instruments made. May instruments be made higher and lower than the compass of the voice? What is the ordinary compass of the human voice? How is it ascertained what sounds are embraced within its compass? Why study instrumental sounds when you only desire to learn vocal music? [Ans. Because it is only by means of fixed or stationary sounds that music is reduced to a science.] How are the sounds on instruments named? What is the figure on this page designed to illustrate? Why are only seven letters used? What sounds are embraced within the compass of the voice? What letter is applied to the key or governing sound on instruments? Was this arbitrary? Where do the half-intervals occur on instruments?

QUESTIONS.

C is the same sound on all instruments. D is the same sound; A; and so of all the other letters.

An instrument that produces but one sound, if it produces that sound at all times without variation, will furnish the means of ascertaining all the other sounds. If the instrument, for example, gives C, and the sound D is required—D is obtained by rising one whole-interval above the sound given; if B is required, it is always found a half-interval below C, &c.

Thus by means of instruments we have fixed and definite sounds, so that when we speak of A, or C, or G, we speak of a sound which is known to be always and in every part of the world the same.

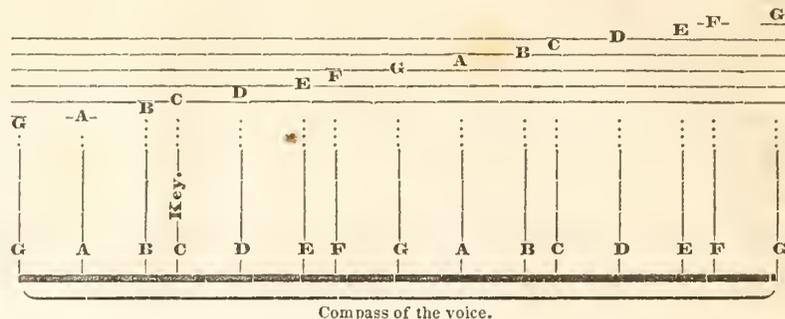

In order to write these sounds, a scale of letters corresponding with the letters on the instrument must be constructed, and so arranged as to indicate the pitch of any sound intended to be represented—so that upon this scale each sound upon the instrument shall have its own fixed position upon the paper, and be known by its own name. For this purpose a staff is used which is composed of five lines and the spaces between them, thus :

QUESTIONS.

Do the sounds on all correct instruments correspond? [Ans. They do.] Are the numbers 1, 2, 3, &c., ever appropriated as names to the sounds of instruments? [Ans. No. It is only when we speak of the voice that we use the numbers.] Could you arrive at the true sound of any number or letter by means of an instrument that produces invariably a given pitch? If an instrument gives the sound C, how do you obtain the pitch D?

What is necessary in order to write music? What is the staff? Why are the lines and spaces named after the first seven letters of the alphabet? [Ans. Because the sounds on instruments are thus named.] How many places for notes does the staff furnish? Does the compass of the voice extend above and below the staff? Why is the staff constructed of five lines only? What is the use of added lines? Why is G placed on the middle line of the staff? [Ans. Because the sound called G on instruments is found to be about the central sound of the compass of the voice.]

The letters or names of the sounds on instruments are thus transferred to the staff; each line and space having its corresponding name, and representing a particular sound. The first line of the staff is C; the first space is D; the second line is E, &c. These five lines with their spaces constituting the most convenient staff, furnish nine places for notes.

The compass of the voice is from G second space below the staff, to G second space above it; and when music is thus written, the spaces immediately above and below the staff are used; also the short lines called added lines.

C SCALE.

This scale of notes occupying the places of the letters on the staff, represents the fixed or stationary sounds on the instruments.

The note on C, the first or lower line of the staff, represents the key or governing sound; this is therefore called the C scale.

To assist in obtaining with accuracy and fixing in the ear each sound of the scale, seven distinct names are applied to the notes in the octave. In singing the scale, 1, (the key), is called Doe; 2 is called Ray; 3 is called Me; 4 is called Fah; 5 is called Sole; 6 is called Lah; and 7 is called See. The same syllable, and the same note, being always applied to the same number of the scale.

Pronunciation of the syllables.—DOE, should be pronounced as broadly as the word doe, a female deer, or foe, and not as the verb do; nor should it be pronounced dow.

QUESTIONS.

How is the pitch of sounds indicated? [Ans. By the position of the notes on the staff.] What is this scale called? What do you understand by the key? What do the numerals under the staff show? [Ans. The natural rise and fall of the voice.] In singing the notes

RAY, like the word ray, a beam of light, and not like rea in the verb read, nor like the word rye.

ME, like the pronoun me, when emphatically pronounced.

FAH, as broad as the first syllable in the word fā-ther.

SOLE, not sul, nor so-il.

LAH, as broad as the first syllable in the word fā-ther.

SEE, like the verb see, or the word sea, the ocean.

This C scale, and the succeeding scales, should be practised first continuously and then by skips, as 1, 3, 5, 1; 1, 5; 1, 5, 1; 1, 1, &c., until (the key being given) the pupil can give the sound of any number required or of any note pointed out on the staff. Be careful that the sounds be made full and firm, and that the voice be not permitted carelessly to sing at a note, sliding up or down to the proper sound.

QUESTIONS.

of the scale, why use seven syllables? What names are used? Is the same name or syllable always given to the same number? On what line or space is Doe in this scale? On what is Me? On what is Sole? Sing the scale.

Instrument.

This is called the G scale, because the note on G represents the key or governing sound of the scale.

The natural rise and fall of the voice is the same, whatever may be the key.

Different letters or sounds are taken as the key, in order to produce a greater variety in the combination of sounds upon the staff.

In this scale G is taken as the key, consequently the voice, which naturally produces the half-intervals between 3 and 4 and between 7 and 1,

QUESTIONS.

What letter or sound is taken as the key in this scale? Does the voice rise and fall from G in this scale precisely as it does from C in the C scale? Why take different letters or sounds as the key? On what line or space is Doc in this scale? On what line or space is Sole? Sing the scale.

will produce them between B and C, and between F and G; the half-interval between B and C on the instrument will correspond with the voice between 3 and 4, but the half-interval between E and F will not correspond with the whole-interval between 6 and 7 in the voice. Instruments, therefore, in order to perform this scale, must be constructed so as to produce an intermediate sound between F and G, conforming to the whole-interval between 6 and 7 in the voice.

A sound thus raised a half-interval is said to be sharped, marked thus #. Hence the rule,  When G is the key, F must be played sharp in every octave.

QUESTIONS.

instrument ascend and descend the octave from G in this scale as it does from C in the C scale? What sound or sounds not introduced in the C scale are required in order to perform the G scale? What letters are performed differently? Why is F played sharp? [Ans. To make the instrument correspond with the voice.] What is meant by F#? What is the rule for performing this scale?

D SCALE.

Key of D

Voice.

Instrument

This is called the D scale, because the note on D represents the key or the governing sound of the scale.

The gradation of sounds as produced by the voice is the same whatever may be the key.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale D is assumed as the key.

From D=1 to E=2 is a whole-interval on the instrument. From E=2 to F#=3 is a whole-interval. From F#=3 to G=4 is a half-interval.

QUESTIONS.

What letter is taken as the key or governing sound in this scale? Does the voice produce the same gradation of sounds when it assumes D as the key, as when it assumes C? What name or syllable is applied to the note on D in this scale? How often does Doe occur in this scale? How often does Fah? Sing the scale?

Instrumental.— Between what letters does the ear require the half-intervals in this scale?

From G=4 to A=5 is a whole-interval. From A=5 to B=6 is a whole-interval. From B=6 to C=7 is a half-interval. But the voice naturally rises a whole-interval from 6 to 7.

Instruments therefore, in order to perform this scale, must, in addition to being capable of making F#, be constructed so as to make an intermediate sound between C and D called C#. Then from B=6 to C#=7 is a whole-interval, and from C#=7 to D is a half-interval, which completes the octave.

Rule. When D is the key, F and C must be played sharp.

QUESTIONS.

What sounds different from those necessary in the C scale are required to perform this? What letters are required to be performed differently? Why? [Ans. To make the instrument please the ear and correspond with the natural rise and fall of the voice.] What is the rule for performing this scale?

A SCALE.

This is called the A scale, because the note on A represents the key or governing sound of the scale.

The voice ascends and descends the octave by the same steps, whatever may be the key.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale A is taken as one, or the key; consequently, as may be seen at once, an additional intermediate sound will be required between G and A.

QUESTIONS.

Why is this called the A scale? What do you understand by the key? On what line or space in this scale is Doe? What name do you give the note on the third line? Sing the scale?

Instrumental.—What sounds additional to those necessary in the C scale are required in Instruments, therefore, in order to perform this scale, must be capable of elevating G a half-interval, or of making G# as well as F and C.

Rule.—When A is the key, F, C, and G must be played sharp.

This scale may be performed by assuming A b as the key or governing sound, then observe the following

Rule.—When A b is the key, B, E, A, and D must be played flat.

Rule.—When F is the key, B must be played flat in every octave.

Rule.—When the key or governing sound is B $\flat$ , B and E must be played flat in every octave.

[NOTE.—This scale is played with B $\flat$  and E $\flat$  as a convenience to the instrumental performer.

Take B as the key or governing sound, and it will be necessary to play five sharps, in order to make the instrument correspond with the natural rise and fall of the voice.]

The note on E in this scale represents the key or governing sound; this is therefore called the E scale.

The voice rises and falls by the same intervals, whatever may be the pitch of the key.

In the preceding seven scales the key or 1 has been on every letter on the staff.

INSTRUMENTAL.

In this scale the pitch assumed is E $\flat$ . To perform this scale no additional sound is required different from those in the preceding scales. A

QUESTIONS.

Is the natural rise and fall of the voice always the same, whatever may be the pitch of the key? In the preceding seven scales has the key or 1 been on every letter on the staff? Why are only seven letters used? [Ans. Because seven are all that can be used on an instrument; which limits seven to the staff.] What is the use of taking different letters as the key? [Ans. It produces a greater variety in the combination of sounds upon the staff.] Why have such a variety of high and low sounds upon the staff? [Ans. They are used in composing a great variety of tunes.] Is it easier or more natural to sing in one scale than another? On what line or space is Doe in this scale? What letter is on the second line of the staff and on the first space above? Is the syllable Doe always applied to the key or 1? What syllable is always applied to 3? What to 5? What to 7? must be played flat, but G $\sharp$  has been already introduced and is precisely the same sound.

Rule.—When the key or governing sound is E $\flat$ ,—B, E, and A must be played flat.

This scale may be performed by assuming E as the key or governing sound, then observe the following

Rule.—When E is the key, F, C, G, and D must be played sharp. Instruments, in order to perform all the seven scales, must, it is evident, be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals. Accordingly all correct instruments are so made.

QUESTIONS.

Instrumental.—What is the key or governing sound of this scale? Is any sound different from those already introduced, necessary to perform this scale? Is A $\flat$  the same as G $\sharp$ ? Is the sharp of any letter the same as the flat of the one next above it? What sounds different from those in the C scale are necessary to perform this? [Ans. An intermediate sound between A and B, D and E, G and A.] What letters must be performed differently? What is the rule for performing this scale? Must an instrument be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals in order to perform all the seven scales? Can instruments thus made perform the E scale by assuming E as the key? What is the rule? Do the numerals, syllables, and notes occupy the same lines and spaces when the E scale is performed with three flats as with four sharps? [Ans. They do.]

SECOND DIVISION.—LENGTH OF SOUNDS.

THE consideration of the length of sounds naturally follows that of pitch. The first question in regard to notes is, What sounds do they represent? Or what is their pitch? The second question is, How long are these sounds to be continued?

We have heretofore considered sounds in reference only to their pitch, and their relation to each other as high or low.

The length of sounds is not affected by their pitch. The same sounds, of whatever pitch, may be prolonged for a longer or shorter time.

The length of sounds is indicated by the form of the notes which represent them.

Notes representing five varieties of length are used—each having its appropriate name expressive of its relative length.

A point (·) adds to a note one half its length.

Thus, a pointed half-note  $\circ\cdot$  is equal to three quarters  $\circ\cdot$  or  $\circ\cdot$  or  $\circ\cdot$

A pointed quarter  $\circ\cdot$  is equal to three eighths  $\circ\cdot$  or  $\circ\cdot$  or  $\circ\cdot$

It should be observed that these notes of various forms do not indicate the positive, but only the relative length of the sounds which they represent. Thus, if the whole note be considered as representing a sound to be continued four seconds, the half-note must have two seconds; the quarter, one

QUESTIONS.

What is the first consideration in regard to sounds? What is the second? Are we now to consider the same high and low sounds as long or short? Does the pitch of a sound affect its length? How is the length of sounds designated? How many kinds of notes are used? What are their names? What one note is equal to two halves? What note is equal to two quarters? What note is equal to two quarters and four eighths, &c.? Have second; the eighth, half a second; the sixteenth, the fourth of a second; and the pointed whole note, six seconds; the pointed quarter one second and a half.

Or if to the quarter be given two seconds, the half-note must be four, the whole note eight, the pointed quarter three seconds, &c., each note claiming its relative length in comparison with the others.

The time occupied in the performance of a piece of music, or of any particular passage, is governed by the nature of the music or the character of the sentiment; according to the taste, judgment, or habit of the performer.

A general idea of the movement of a tune, or of a particular passage, is suggested by the use of the following terms, viz.: Moderate—slow—very slow—lively—very lively, &c.

Measures.—To regulate the time, and to preserve equability throughout, written music is divided into equal portions called measures.

Bars.—The measures are marked off by straight lines drawn across the staff, which are called bars.

Each measure, or portion between the bars, must occupy the same time in the performance, whatever may be the number or form of the notes.

Measures are divided into smaller portions, called parts of measures. There are two kinds of measures, equal and unequal.

A measure with two parts is called equal measure.

A measure with three parts is called unequal measure.

Music written with equal measure is in equal time, and is marked  $\frac{2}{2}$  because two half-notes constitute a measure.

Music written with unequal measure is in unequal time, and is marked  $\frac{3}{2}$  because three half-notes constitute a measure.

QUESTIONS.

Notes any positive length? How then? What is to be our guide as to the time to be occupied in singing a piece of music? How is an idea of the time suggested? What are measures? For what are they used? What are bars? How are measures divided? How many kinds of measures are there? What is equal measure? What is unequal measure? How is a quarter note known from an eighth? [Ans. The eighth has one mark on the stem.]

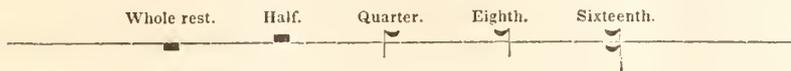

To aid in the computation and equal division of the time, certain regular motions of the hand are made; this is called beating time.

Equal measure has two beats, one to each part of a measure; the first downward, the second upward.

Unequal measure has three beats, one to each part of a measure; the first downward, the second horizontal, or to the breast, the third upward.

Rule.—The downward beat always begins the measure.

Rests.—There are five different rests, or marks of silence, corresponding in time to the five different kinds of notes, as follows:

A point adds to a rest one half its length.

A pause (∩) is sometimes used. The notes over or under which it is written are to be prolonged indefinitely at the pleasure of the performer.

Staccato.—When a note or several notes are to be performed in a short, pointed and distinct manner, the staccato (t) is used.

Slur.—When one syllable of poetry is to be applied to two or more notes, a slur is drawn over or under them, or the stems of the notes are connected.

Triplets.—When three notes are to be performed in the time of two of the same nominal value, the figure 3 is written over or under them.

Repeat.—A passage to be repeated is embraced between two dotted lines across the staff.

A double bar (||) shows the end of a strain of the music, or of a line of the poetry.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

EQUAL TIME.

UNEQUAL TIME.

QUESTIONS.

What is the use of beating time? How many beats has equal time? How many has unequal? In what part of the measure does the hand descend in beating time? What are rests? How many are used? For what is the pause used? For what is the staccato used?

QUESTIONS.

What is the use of a slur? What effect is intended by the figure 3 over or under three notes? When a passage is to be repeated, what sign is used? What is the use of the double bar? What is the sign of equal time? What of unequal time?

THIRD DIVISION.—FORCE OF SOUNDS.

MUSICAL sounds may be loud, very loud, soft, very soft, moderate, or ordinary as to force, without effecting their pitch or length.

Medium.—A sound produced by the ordinary action of the organs of voice or of an instrument is a medium sound, and is marked m.

Piano.—A sound produced by the vocal organs, somewhat restrained, is a soft sound; it is called piano, and is marked p.

Pianissimo.—A sound produced by a very slight exertion of the vocal organs, yet so as to be distinctly audible, is called pianissimo, and is marked pp.

Forte.—A loud sound called forte is produced by a strong and full exertion of the vocal organs. It is marked f.

Fortissimo.—A very loud sound is called fortissimo; it must not be attempted beyond the power of the vocal organs so as to degenerate into a scream. It is marked ff.

Accent.—General rules. 1st. The first note in every measure must be accented.

2d. When there is more than one note to a beat, the first is accented.

3d. In unequal time, when the measure is filled with two quarters and two half-notes, the first half-note is accented.

Organ sounds.—A sound which is commenced, continued, and ended with an equal degree of force is called an organ sound.

Diminishing sound.—A sound commencing loud, and gradually diminished until it becomes soft, is marked thus  $\triangleright$ .

Increasing sound.—A sound commencing soft, and gradually increased until it becomes loud, is marked thus  $\triangleleft$ .

Swell.—A sound commencing soft and gradually increased till it becomes loud, then diminished till it becomes soft, is marked thus  $\diamond$ .

Pressure tone.—A very sudden swell is marked thus  $\diamond$ .

Explosive tone.—When a sound is to be struck with very great force, and instantly diminished, it is marked thus  $\triangleright$ .

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

The first staff is in 2/2 time, key of C. It contains 12 measures with dynamics: pp, p, m, f, ff, pp, p, m, f. The notes are: C4, G4, C5, G4, F4, E4, D4, C4, G4, C5, G4, F4, E4, D4, C4.

The second staff is in 3/2 time, key of C. It contains 12 measures with dynamics: p, m, p, ff, f, m, p, pp, m, f, ff. The notes are: C4, G4, C5, G4, F4, E4, D4, C4, G4, C5, G4, F4, E4, D4, C4.

How are musical sounds distinguished in regard to force? What letter is used to signify medium? What letter is used to signify soft? What letter is used to signify very soft?

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC.

The diagram illustrates the vocal compass. The top two staves (TREBLE & ALTO) are labeled 'Key of C' and show the notes G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G. The bottom two staves (TENOR & BASE) are also labeled 'Key of C' and show the notes G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G. Brackets above the staves indicate the ranges for Alto, Treble, Tenor, and Base. A lower staff shows a chromatic scale from G to G with sharps and flats. Brackets at the bottom indicate the compass of the voice of females, also of boys before the change, and the compass of the male voice after the change.

In the preceding seven scales, we have already seen that an instrument, in order to perform tunes written from all the seven scales, must be constructed upon a scale of half-intervals.

But this figure in connection with the staff, &c., is introduced with a view of illustrating the relations of the different voices.

The human voice is divided into four classes. The treble or highest voice of females, the alto or lowest voice of females. The tenor or highest voice of males, and the base or lowest voice of males. The brackets above and below the staves show the range of sounds from which the different parts are ordinarily written.

The sound called G on instruments is about the centre of the compass of the voice; it is, therefore, written on the middle of the staff, and the other sounds or letters located accordingly. It must be remembered, however, that the voice of boys—which corresponds with that of females, and is classed with the alto—undergoes a change before they arrive at maturity, and is depressed an entire octave. The voice after the change is on the tenor and base staff.

On referring to the tunes, it will be seen that the music for the four classes of voices is written on four staves, marked base, treble, alto, and tenor. The G on the middle line of the base and the tenor staves, representing the centre of the ordinary compass of the voice of males, is an octave lower than G on the treble and alto staves. Performers on the organ, piano forte, seraphina, &c., should not forget that the notes written upon the base and tenor staves are to be played an octave lower than the notes written upon the treble and alto staves. Instruments must have a compass of at least three octaves, to embrace these voices, or to play two octaves of written music.

QUESTIONS.—Into how many classes of sounds is the human voice divided? Why is the letter G placed on the third or middle line of the staff? What is the relation of the male voice to that of the female? [Ans. The male voice after the change is an octave lower.] Does an instrument require three octaves to play two octaves of written music?

NOTE.—Instruments may be constructed or tuned to different sounds. For example, the German flute is based upon D, some of the clarinets upon B $\flat$ , and others upon E $\flat$ . The church organ, piano forte, and several other leading instruments are constructed or tuned to the sound called C. This key, or scale, is therefore called natural to instruments, and is made the universal standard of reference and comparison.

CHROMATIC SCALE.

Key of C

It is proved by instruments that the less intervals which occur between 3 and 4, and between 7 and 1, are precisely half as great as those which occur between the other sounds of the octave.

Now between the other sounds of the octave it has been found by experience that the voice, by an effort, may produce intermediate sounds. Thus intermediate sounds may be produced between 1 and 2, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, 5 and 6, and between 6 and 7; but not between 3 and 4, and 7 and 1, because the intervals between those sounds are naturally half-intervals, and no smaller interval is practicable.

The notes representing intermediate sounds may be written on the same line or space of the staff with either of the notes between which they occur. Thus, the note representing the sound between 1 and 2 may be written on the same line or space with either of those notes. 1 may be elevated a half-interval, or 2 may be depressed a half-interval, and the same sound will be produced.

If it is proposed to elevate the lower sound, a # is used, and the sound is called a sharp 1st, a sharp 4th, &c.

If it is proposed to depress the upper sound, a b, (the sign of depression,) is used, and the sound is called a flat 3d, a flat 7th, &c.

A sharp (#) elevates the pitch of a note a half-interval.

A flat (b) depresses the pitch of a note a half-interval.

In the application of names to the intermediate sounds, the voice is assisted in producing the proper elevation or depression by changing the vowel sound of the syllable used. Thus when a sharp occurs before Doe, Ray, Fah, &c., these syllables should be pronounced Dee, Ree, Fee, &c. When a flat occurs before a note, the intermediate sound should be attempted by pronouncing See, Me, &c. thus, Say, May, &c.

In attempting to sing this scale, it will be difficult to obtain the artificial sounds perfectly without the aid of an instrument.

In the practice, therefore, an instrument should always be introduced as a guide, that shall give the intermediate sounds with accuracy and certainty.

In the preceding scales the key has been so varied as to occupy every letter on the staff and every variety of high and low sounds exhibited, requiring only to extend the scales higher and lower in order to reach the widest range of instruments. From these scales all music is written, of whatever character, and from them every possible combination of sounds may be made.

NOTE.—A tune may be written upon two or more scales; that is, a piece of music may commence in one key, and during its progress be changed into another key, which is called modulation. When the change is continued several measures, the syllables should be changed, (see page 268,) but when the change is made for one or two notes only, the #1th, or b7th, &c., should be introduced; hence the necessity of singers practising the chromatic scale.

QUESTIONS.

How is it proved that the less intervals are half as great as the whole-intervals? Between what numbers of the octave may the voice produce intermediate sounds? Are the intervals thus produced natural? Why may we not have intermediate sounds between 3 and 4, and between 7 and 1? What is a Chromatic scale? [Ans. A scale of half-intervals.] How are intermediate sounds written on the staff? What character is a sign of elevation? What is the sign of depression? Where a note appears on the staff with a # prefixed, how is it to be sung? How when a b is prefixed? Is it any advantage in singing sharpened and flattened notes to change the pronunciation of the syllables? What change is recommended?

Instrumental.—When a note appears on the staff with a # prefixed, how is it to be played? [Ans. The sound is to be raised a half-interval.] When a b how? [Ans. The sound is to be lowered a half-interval.] In the key of F the #1th is on B, how is the note to be played? [Ans. B natural, or as B is played in the C scale.] In the key of G the b7th is on F, how is the note to be played? [Ans. F natural.]

2. Re-turn, my wand'ring soul, re-turn, And seek a Fa-ther's melting heart; His pitying eyes thy grief dis-cern, His heav'nly balm shall heal thy smart.

Key of G

3. Re-turn, my wand'ring soul, return, Thy dying Sa- viour bids thee live; Go, view his bleeding side, and learn, How free-ly Je-sus can for-give.

Key of G

4. Re-turn, my wand'ring soul, return, And wipe a-way the fall-ing tear; 'Tis God who says, "No longer mourn;" 'Tis mercy's voice in-vites thee near.

AERION. L. M. (DOUBLE.)

Key of D

1. Lord, I am thine, but thou wilt prove My faith, my patience, and my love; When men of spite a - gainst me join, They are the sword, the hand is thine.

Key of D

3. What sinners val - ue, I resign; Lord, 'tis enough that thou art mine; I shall behold thy bliss - ful face, And stand com - plete in right - eous - ness.

Key of D

5. O glorious hour! O blest abode! I shall be near, and like my God; And flesh and sin no more control The sacred pleasures of my soul.

Key of D

2. Their hope and portion lie be - low; 'Tis all the hap - piness they know; 'Tis all they seek, they take their shares, And leave the rest a - mong their heirs.

Key of D

4. This life's a dream, an emp - ty show; But that bright world to which I go Hath joys sub - stan - tial and sin - cere; When shall I wake and find me there?

Key of D

6. My flesh shall slumber in the ground, Till the last trumpet's joy - ful sound: Then burst the chains, with glad sur - prise, And in my Saviour's im - age rise.

SLOW, AND IN A GLIDING MANNER.

Key of A 3/2

1. Come, gracious Spi-rit, heav'nly Dove, With light and com-fort from a-bove: Be thou our guar-dian, thou our guide; O'er ev'-ry thought and step pre-side.

Key of A 3/2

2. The light of truth to us dis-play, And make us know and choose thy way; Plant ho-ly fear in ev'-ry heart, That we from God may not de-part.

Key of A 3/2

3. Lead us to ho-li-ness,—the road That we must take to dwell with God; Lead us to Christ, the liv-ing way, Nor let us from his pre-cepts stray.

Key of A 3/2

4. Lead us to God, our fi-nal rest, in his en-joy-ment to be blest; Lead us to heav'n, the seat of bliss, Where pleasure in per-fec-tion is.

MERON. L. M.

SLOW.

Key of C 2/2

1. 'Twas on that dark, that dole-ful night, When pow'rs of earth and hell a-rose A-gainst the Son of God's de-light, And friends betray'd him to his foes;—

Key of C 2/2

2. Be-fore the mourn-ful scene be-gan, He took the bread, and bless'd, and brake: What love through all his actions ran! What wondrous words of grace he spoke.

Key of C 2/2

3. "This is my bo-dy, broke for sin; Re-ceive and eat the liv-ing food;" Then took the cup and bless'd the wine; "Tis the new covenant in my blood."

Key of C 2/2

H 4. "Do this," he cried, "till time shall end, In mem'ry of your dy-ing friend; Meet at my ta-ble, and re-cord The love of your de-part-ed Lord,"
 5 Je-sus, thy feast we ce-le-brate, We show thy death, we sing thy name, Till thou re-turn, and we shall eat The marriage sup-per of the Lamb.

5. Our lives through va - rious scenes are drawn, And vex'd with tri - fling cares; While thine e - ter - nal thoughts move on Thine un - dis - turb'd af - fairs.
6. Great God, how in - fi - nite art thou! What worth - less worms are we! Let the whole race of crea - tures bow, And pay their praise to thee.

HARTFORD. C. M.

1. As pants the hart for cool-ing streams, When heat-ed in the chase, So longs my soul, O God, for thee And thy re-fresh-ing grace.

2. For thee, my God, the liv-ing God, My thirs-ty soul doth pine; Oh, when shall I be-hold thy face, Thou Ma-jes-ty di-vine?

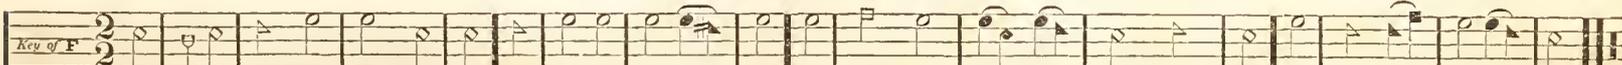

3. I sigh, with anx-ious care oppress'd, To think of hap-pier days, When with the joy-ful crowd I went To sing glad songs of praise.

4. Why art thou troubled, O my soul? His praise I yet shall sing; Hope still in him who is my God, My health's e-ter-nal spring.

WINTER. C. M.

READ.

1. Oh that the Lord would guide my ways To keep his stat-utes still; Oh that my God would grant me grace To know and do his will.

2. Oh send thy Spi-rit down, to write Thy law up-on my heart, Nor let my tongue in-dulge de-ceit, Nor act the li-ar's part.

3. From vani-ty turn off mine eyes; Let no cor-rupt de-sign Nor co-ve-tous de-sires a-rise With-in this soul of mine.

4. Or-der my foot-steps by thy word, And make my heart sin-cere: Let sin have no do-mi-nion, Lord, But keep my conscience clear.
 5. My soul hath gone too far a-stray, My feet too of-ten slip; Yet, since I've not for-got thy way, Re-store thy wand'ring sheep.
 6. Make me to walk in thy commands; 'Tis a de-light-ful road; Nor let: I've my head, or heart, or hands, Of-fend a-gainst my God.

CANTON. C. M.

1. Be - hold thy wait - ing ser - vant, Lord, De - vo - ted to thy fear; Re - mem - ber, and con - firm thy word, For all my hopes are there.

2. Hast thou not sent sal - va - tion down, And pro - mised quick'ning grace? Doth not my heart ad - dress thy throne? And yet thy love de - lays.

3. Mine eyes for thy sal - va - tion fail; Oh bear thy ser - vant up, Nor let the scoffing lips pre - vail, Which dare re - proach my hope.

4. Didst thou not raise my faith, O Lord? Then let thy truth ap - pear: Saints shall re - joice in mv re - ward, And trust as well as fear.

LITCHFIELD. C. M.

L. MASON.

1. Ye hearts with youthful vi - gour warm, In smil - ing crowds draw near, And turn from ev' - ry mor - tal charm, A Sa - viour's voice to hear.

2. He, Lord of all the worlds on high, Stoops to con - verse with you; And lays his ra - diant glo - ries by, Your friend - ship to pur - sue.

3. "The soul that longs to see my face, Is sure my love to gain; And those that ear - ly seek my grace, Shall nev - er seek in vain."

4. What ob - ject, Lord, my soul should move, If once com - pared with thee? What beau - ty should com - mand my love, Like what in Christ I see?

5. A - way - ye false, de - lu - sive toys, Vain tempt - ers of the mind; 'Tis here I fix my last - ing choice, And here true bliss I find.

WARWICK. C. M.

STANLEY.

1. Lord, in the morn - ing thou shalt hear My voice as - cend - ing high; To thee will I di - rect my pray'r, To thee lift up mine eye:—

2. Up to the hills where Christ is gone To plead for all his saints, Pre - sent - ing at his Fa - ther's throne Our songs and our complaints.

3. Thou art a God be - fore whose sight The wick - ed shall not stand: Sin - ners shall ne'er be thy de - light, Nor dwell at thy right hand.

4. But to thy house will I re - sort, To taste thy mer - cies there; I will fre - quent thy ho - ly court, And wor - ship in thy fear.

5. Oh may thy Spi - rit guide my feet, In ways of right - eous - ness; Make ev' - ry path of du - ty straight And plain be - fore my face.

WESTFORD. C. M.

L. MASON.

1. Oh for a thousand tongues to sing My dear Re - deem - er's praise: The glo - ries of my God and King, The triumphs of his grace, The triumphs of his grace.

2. My gracious Mas - ter and my God, As - sist me to pro - claim, And spread through all the earth a - broad The honours of thy name, The honours of thy name.

3. Je - sus—the name that calms our fears, That bids our sor - rows cease; 'Tis mu - sic in the sin - ner's ears, 'Tis life, and health, and peace, 'Tis life, and health, and peace.

4. He breaks the sin - ner's hea - vy chain; He sets the pris'ner free; His blood removes the guil - ty stain— His blood avail'd for me, His blood avail'd for me.

5. Believe, and ye his grace shall know, Shall feel your sins for - given, An - ti - ci - pate your heav'n be - low, And own that love is heav'n, And own that love is heav'n.

PETERBORO. C. M.

Key of G

1. Once more, my soul, the ris - ing day Sa-lutes my wak - ing eyes: Once more, my voice, thy trib - ute pay To him who rules the skies.

Key of G

2. 'Tis he sup-ports my mor - tal frame; My tongue shall speak his praise; My sins would rouse his wrath to flame, And yet his wrath de - lays.

Key of G

3. How ma - ny wretched souls are fled Since the last set - ting sun! And yet thou length'nest out my thread, And yet my mo - ments run.

Key of G

4. Great God, let all my hours be thine, While I en - joy the light; Then shall my sun in smiles de - cline, And bring a peace - ful night.

CHINA. C. M.

Slow.

Key of B

1. Why do we mourn de - part - ing friends, Or shake at death's a - larms? 'Tis but the voice that Je - sus sends, To call them to his arms.

Key of B

2. Are we not tend - ing up - ward too, As fast as 'time can move? Nor should we wish the hours more slow, To keep us from our love.

Key of B

3. Why should we tremble to con - vey Their bo - dies to the tomb? There the dear flesh of Je - sus lay, And left a long per - fume.

Key of B

4. The graves of all the saints he bless'd, And soften'd ev' - ry bed; Where should the dy - ing mem - bers rest, But with the dy - ing Head?

5. Thence he a - rose, as - cend - ed high, And show'd our feet the way: Up to the Lord our flesh shall fly, At the great ris - ing day.

ORTONVILLE. C. M.

Key of B

1. How sweet the name of Je - sus sounds In a be - liev - er's ear! It soothes his sorrows, heals his wounds, And drives a - way his fear, And drives a - way his fear.

Key of B

2. It makes the wounded spi-rit whole, And calms the troubled breast; 'Tis manna to the hungry soul, And to the wea-ry rest, And to the wea-ry rest.

Key of B

3. By him my prayers ac-cept-ance gain, Al-though with sin de - filed; Sa - tan ac - cu-ses me in vain, And I am own'd a child, And I am own'd a child.

Key of B

4. Weak is the ef-fort of my heart, And cold my warmest thought; But when I see thee as thou art, I'll praise thee as I ought, I'll praise thee as I ought.
5. Till then I would thy love pro-claim With ev' - ry fleet-ting breath; And may the mu - sic of thy name Re - fresh my soul in death, Re - fresh my soul in death.

LUTZEN. C. M.

M. LUTHER.

Key of F

1. To our al - migh - ty Ma - ker, God, New hon - ours be ad - dress'd; His great sal - va - tion shines a - broad, And makes the na - tions blest.

Key of F

2. He spake the word to Abraham first; His truth ful - fils the grace; The Gentiles make his name their trust, And learn his right - eous - ness.

Key of F

3. Let all the earth his love pro - claim, With all his different tongues, And spread the hon - our of his name, In me - lo - dy and songs.

Key of F

1. Dark was the night, and cold the ground, On which the Lord was laid: His sweat like drops of blood ran down, In ag - o - ny he pray'd—

2. "Father! re - move this bit - ter cup, If such thy sacred will; If not, con - tent to drink it up, Thy pleasure I ful - fil!"

3. Go to the gar - den, sin - ner! see Those pre - cious drops that flow; The hea - vy load he bore for thee; For thee he lies so low.

4. Then learn of him the cross to bear, Thy Father's will o - bey; And when temp - ta - tions press thee near, A - wake, to watch and pray.

LEBANON. C. M.

1. Lord, what is man, poor, fee - ble man, Born of the earth at first, His life a sha - dow, light and vain, Still hast - ing to the dust?

2. Oh! what is fee - ble, dy - ing man, Or a - ny of his race, That God should make it his con - cern To vi - sit him with grace?

3. That God who darts his light - ning down, Who shakes the world a - bove, And mountains trem - ble at his frown—How won - drous is his love!

And makes the nations prove
The glories of his righteousness,
And wonders of his love.

HOWARD. C. M.

Key of D

1. Lord, hear the voice of my com-plaint; Ac-cept my se-cret prayer; To thee a-lone, my King, my God, Will I for help re-pair.

2. Thou, in the morn, my voice shalt hear, And with the dawn-ing day, To thee de-vout-ly I'll look up, To thee de-vout-ly pray.

3. Let all thy saints who trust in thee, With shouts their joy pro-claim; By thee pre-served, let them re-joice, And mag-ni-fy thy name.

4. To right-eous men the righteous Lord His blessings will ex-tend; And with his fa-vour all his saints, As with a shield, de-fend.

ALBANY. C. M.

Key of A

1. Sweet was the time when first I felt The Saviour's pard'ning blood Ap-plied to cleanse my soul from guilt, And bring me home to God.

2. Soon as the morn the light reveal'd, His prais-es tuned my tongue; And when the ev'n-ing shades pre-vail'd, His love was all my song.

3. In prayer my soul drew near the Lord, And saw his glo-ry shine; And when I read his ho-ly word, I call'd each pro-mise mine.

4. But now, when ev'n-ing shade pre-vails, My soul in dark-ness mourns; And when the morn the light re-veals, No light to me re- turns.

5. Rise, Lord, now help me to pre-vail; Oh make my soul thy care; I know thy mer-cy can-not fail, Let me that mer-cy share.

2. Unnumber'd comforts on my soul
Thy tender care bestow'd,
Before my infant heart conceived
From whom those comforts flow'd.
3. When in the slippery paths of youth
With heedless steps I ran,
Thy arm, unseen, convey'd me safe,
And led me up to man.
4. Ten thousand thousand precious gifts
My daily thanks employ ;
Nor is the least a cheerful heart,
That tastes those gifts with joy.
5. Through every period of my life,
Thy goodness I'll pursue ;
And after death, in distant worlds,
The glorious theme renew.
6. Through all eternity, to thee
A joyful song I'll raise :
But oh, eternity's too short
To utter all thy praise.

SLOW.

Key of G

1. I love to steal a - while a - way, From ev' - ry cum - b'ring care, And spend the hours of setting day In hum - ble, grateful pray'r.

2. I love in sol - i - tude to shed The pen - i - ten - tial tear; And all his pro - mi - ses to plead, Where none but God can hear

3. I love to think on mercies past, And future good im - plore; And all my cares and sorrows cast On him whom I a - dore.

4. I love by faith to take a view Of brighter scenes in heav'n; The prospect doth my strength renew, While here by tempests driv'n.

5. Thus, when life's toilsome day is o'er, May its de - part - ing ray Be calm as this im - pressive hour, And lead to endless day.

MEAR. C. M.

Key of G

1. Sing to the Lord, ye distant lands, Ye tribes of ev'ry tongue; His new dis - cover'd grace de - mands A new and nobler song.

2. Say to the na - tions, Je - sus reigns, God's own al - mighty Son; His pow'r the sinking world sus - tains, And grace sur - rounds his throne.

3. Let heav'n pro - claim the joy - ful day, Joy through the earth be - seen; Let ci - ties shine in bright ar - ray, And fields in cheerful green.

4. Let an un - u - sual joy sur - prise The islands of the sea, Ye mountains, sink, ye valleys, rise; Pre - pare the Lord his way.

5. Be - hold he comes, he comes to bless The nations, as their God; To show the world his righteous - ness, And send his truth a - broad.

Key of B-

1. O thou whose tender mer - cy hears Con - tri - tion's humble sigh, Whose hand, indulgent, wipes the tears From sorrow's weeping eye, From sorrow's weeping eye—

Key of B-

2. See, low be-fore thy throne of grace, A wretched wand' - rer mourn; Hast thou not bid me seek thy face? Hast thou not said—Re - turn? Hast thou not said—Re - turn?

Key of B-

3. And shall my guilty fears pre - vail To drive me from thy feet? Oh let not this dear re - fuge fail, This on - ly safe re - treat, This on - ly safe re - treat.

Key of B

4. Oh shine on this be - nighted heart, With beams of mercy shine; And let thy healing voice im - part A taste of joys di - vine, A taste of joys di - vine.

HOLYOKE. C. M.

Key of F

1st time. 2d time.

Key of G

1. Sing, all ye ransom'd of the Lord, Your great Deliv'rer sing: Ye pilgrims, now for Zi - on bound. Be joyful in your King, Be joyful in your King.

Key of G

2. His hand di - vine shall lead you on, Through all the blissful road, Till to the sacred mount you rise, And see your gracious God, And see your gracious God.

Key of G

3. Bright gar-lands of im-mor - tal joy Shall bloom on ev'ry head; While sor-row, sighing, and dis - tress, Like shadows all are fled, Like shadows all are fled.

Key of G

4. March on, in' your Re-deem-er's strength, Pursue his footsteps still; With joyful hopes still fix your eyes On Zion's heav'nly hill, On Zion's heav'nly hill.

EASTPORT. C. M.

Key of F

1. How long wilt thou for - get me, Lord, Must I for - ev - er mourn? How long wilt thou withdraw from me, Oh! never to re - turn? Oh! never to re - turn?

Key of F

2. Oh here, and to my longing eyes, Restore thy wonted light, Down on my spi - rit, lest I sleep In death's most gloomy night, In death's most gloomy night.

Key of F

3. Since I have always placed my trust Beneath thy mercy's wing, Thy saving health will come, and then My heart with joy shall spring, My heart with joy shall spring.

Key of F

4. Then shall my song, with praise inspired, To thee, my God, as - cend, Who to thy servant in dis - tress Such bounty did ex - tend, Such bounty did ex - tend.

-Key of C

1. How oft, a - las. this wretched heart Has wander'd from the Lord! How oft my rov - ing thoughts de - part, For - get - ful of his word!

Key of B

3. That God is great, we of - ten have By glad ex - pe - rience found; And seen how he, with wondrous power, A - bove all gods is crown'd.

Key of B

Key of B

1. What shall I ren-der to my God, For all his kindness shown? My feet shall vis-it thine a-bode, My songs address thy throne, My songs address thy throne, My songs address thy throne.

Key of B

2. Among the saints who fill thy house, My off'ring shall be paid: There shall my zeal perform the vows My soul in anguish made, My soul in anguish made, My soul in anguish made.

Key of B

3. How much is mercy thy delight, Thou ev-er-bless-ed God! How dear thy servants in thy sight! How precious is their blood, How precious is their blood, How precious is their blood!

Key of B

4. How happy all thy servants are! How great thy grace to me! My life, which thou hast made thy care, Lord, I devote to thee, Lord, I devote to thee, Lord, I de-vote to thee!

SWANWICK. C. M.

LUCAS.

Key of B

1. f A-rise, ye peo-ple, and a-dore, Ex-ult-ing strike the chord; Let all the earth, from shore to shore, Con-fess th'al-might-y Lord, Con-fess th'al-might-y Lord.

Key of B

2. Glad shouts a-loud—wide echoing round, Th'as-cend-ing God proclaim; Th'angel-ic choir re-pond the sound, And shake ere-a-tion's frame, And shake ere-a-tion's frame.

Key of B

3. They sing of death and hell o'erthrown, In that tri-umph-ant hour; And God ex-alt's his conquering Son, To his right hand of pow'r, To his right hand of pow'r.

Key of B

4. Oh shout, ye peo-ple, and a-dore, Ex-ult-ing strike the chord; Let all the earth, from shore to shore, Con-fess th'al-might-y Lord, Con-fess th'al-might-y Lord.

Key of C

1. Ear-ly, my God, with-out de-lay, I haste to seek thy face; My thirs-ty spi-rit faints a - way, My thirs -ty spi-rit faints a - way, Without thy cheering grace.

Key of C

2. So pilgrims on the scorching sand, Beneath a burning sky, Long for a cooling stream at hand, Long for a cooling stream at hand, And they must drink, or die.

Key of C

3. I've seen thy glo - ry and thy pow'r Through all thy temple shine; My God, re - peat that heav'n-ly hour. My God, re - peat that heav'nly hour, That vi - sion so di - vine.

Key of C

4. Not all the blessings of a feast Can please my soul so well, As when thy rich-er grace I taste, As when thy rich-er grace I taste, And in thy presence dwell.
 5. Not life it - self, with all its joys, Can my best passions move, Or raise so high my cheer-ful voice, Or raise so high my cheer-ful voice, As thy for - giv - ing love.
 6. Thus, till my last ex - pir - ing day, I'll bless my God and King; Thus will I lift my hands to pray, Thus will I lift my hands to pray, And tune my lips to sing.

2. With pitying eyes the Prince of grace Be-held our helpless grief; He saw—and oh, a-maz-ing love! He ran to our re-lief. Hal-le-lu-jah! Hal-le-lu-jah! Hal-le-lu-jah!

Key of A

3. Down from the shin-ing seats a-bove, With joy-ful haste he fled, En-ter'd the grave in mor-tal flesh, And dwelt among the dead. Coda.

Key of A

4. Oh, for this love let rocks and hills Their last-ing si-lence break; And all harmonious human tongues The Saviour's praises speak.
5. An-gels, as-sist our might-y joys; Strike all your harps of gold; But when you raise your highest notes, His love can ne'er be told.

RATHER SLOW.

Key of A

1. Oh for a clo-ser walk with God, A calm and heav'n-ly frame; A light to shine up-on the road That leads me to the Lamb.

Key of A

2. Where is the bless-ed-ness I knew When first I saw the Lord? Where is the soul-re-fresh-ing view Of Je-sus and his word?

Key of A

3. What peace-ful hours I once en-joy'd; How sweet their mem'ry still! But they have left an ach-ing void The world can ne-ver fill.

Key of A

4. Re-turn, oh ho-ly Dove, re-turn, Sweet mes-sen-ger of rest; I hate the sins that made thee mourn, And drove thee from my breast.
5. The dear-est i-dol I have known, What-e'er that i-dol be, Help me to tear it from thy throne, And wor-ship on-ly thee.
6. So shall my walk be close with God, Calm and se-rene my frame; So pu-er light shall mark the road That leads me to the Lamb.

2. To all the list'ning tribes, O Lord,
Thy wonders I will tell;
And to those nations sing thy praise,
That round about us dwell.
3. Because thy mercy's boundless height
The highest heaven transcends;
And far beyond th' aspiring clouds
Thy faithful truth extends.
4. Be thou, O God, exalted high,
Above the stary frame;
And let the world, with one consent,
Confess thy glorious name.

SLOW AND SOFT.

Key of A

1. Oh, could I find, from day to day, A near-ness to my God, Then would my hours glide sweet a-way, While lean-ing on his word.

Key of A

2. Lord, I de-sire with thee to live A-new from day to day, In joys the world can nev-er give, Nor ev-er take a-way.

Key of A

3. Blest Je-sus, come, and rule my heart, And make me whol-ly thine, That I may nev-er more de-part, Nor grieve thy love di-vine.

Key of A

4. Thus till my last ex-pi-ning breath, Thy good-ness I'll a-dore; And when my frame dis-solves in death, My soul shall love thee more.

HEATH. C. M.

Key of E

2. Sing how E-ter-nal Love Its Chief Be-lov-ed chose, And bade him raise our wretch-ed race From their a-byss of woes.

Key of E

3. His hand no thun-der bears, Nor ter-ror clothes his brow; No bolts to drive our guil-ty souls To fiere-er flames be-low.

Key of E

4. 'Twas mer-cy fill'd the throne, And wrath stood si-lent by, When Christ was sent with pur-don's down To re-bels loom'd to die.
 5. Now, sin-ners, dry your tears, Let hope be less sor-row cease; Bow the thep-tre of his love, And take the of-fer'd peace.
 6. Lord, we o-bey thy call; We lay an hum-ble claim; To the sal-va-tion thou hast brought, And love and praise thy name.

Key of D

1. My soul, be on thy guard, Ten thousand foes a - rise; The hosts of sin are pressing hard To draw thee from the skies.

Key of D

2. Oh watch, and fight, and pray; The bat - tle ne'er give o'er; Re - new it bold - ly ev' - ry day, And help di - vine im - plore.

Key of D

3. Ne'er think the vic - t'ry won, Nor lay thine ar - mour down: Thy ar - duous work will not be done Till thou ob - tain thy crown.

Key of B

2. Be-fore our Fa-ther's throne We pour our ar-dent pray'rs; Our fears, our hopes, our aims are one— Our com-forts and our cares.

Key of B

3. We share our mu-tual woes, Our mu-tual bur-dens bear; And of-ten for each o-ther flows The sym-pa-thiz-ing tear.

Key of B

4. When we a-sun-der part, It gives us in-ward pain; But we shall still be join'd in heart, And hope to meet a-gain.
 5. This glo-rious hope re-vives pain, Our cou-age by the way; While each in ex-pec-ta-tion lives, And longs to see the day.
 6. From sor-row, toil, and pain, And sin we shall be free; And per-fect love and friendship reign Through all e-ter-ni-ty.

DARTMOUTH. S. M.

Key of B

From heav'nly virtue's narrow way,
To fly the good I would pursue,
Or do the sin I would not do,
Still, he who felt temptation's power
Shall guard me in that dangerous hour.
3. When sorrowing o'er some stone I bend
Which covers all that was a friend;
And from his voice, his hand, his smile,
Divides me—for a little while,—
Thou, Saviour, seest the tears I shed,
For thou didst weep o'er Lazarus dead.
4. And oh, when I have safely pass'd cou-rage on, A-wake, and run the heav'nly race, And put a cheer - ful cou-rage on.

2. True, 'tis a strait and thorny road,
And mortal spirits tire and faint;
But they forget the mighty God,
Who feeds the strength of every saint.
3. The mighty God, whose matchless power
Is ever new, and ever young;
And firm endures, while endless years
Their everlasting-circles run.
4. From thee, the overflowing spring,
Our souls shall drink a full supply;
While such as trust their native strength,
Shall melt away, and droop, and die.
5. Swift as an eagle cuts the air,
We'll mount aloft to thine abode:
On wings of love our souls shall fly,
Nor tire amidst the heavenly road.

1. Let all the earth their voi - ces raise, To sing the choicest psalm of praise; To sing and bless Je - ho - vah's name: His glo - ry let the hea-then know; His won-ders to the na-tions show; And all his sav-ing works pro-claim.

2. The heathen know thy glory, Lord,
The wand'ring nations read thy word;
In these far climes Jehovah's known:
Our worship shall no more be paid
To gods which mortal hands have made;
Our Maker is our God alone.
3. He framed the globe, he built the sky,
He made the shining worlds on high,
And reigns complete in glory there;
His beams are majesty and light:
His beauties how divinely bright;
His temple how divinely fair!
4. Come the great day, the glorious hour,
When earth shall feel his saving power,
And barbarous nations fear his name;
Then shall the race of men confess
The beauty of his holiness,
And in his courts his grace proclaim.

2. Slain in the guilty sinner's stead,
Thy spotless righteousness I plead,
And thy atoning blood:
Thy righteousness my robe shall be,
Thy merit shall avail for me,
And bring me near to God.
3. Then save me from eternal death,
The Spirit of adoption breathe,
His consolation send:
By him some word of life impart,
And sweetly whisper to my heart—
"Thy Maker is thy friend."
4. Then will the king of terrors be
A welcome messenger to me,
To bid me come away;
Unlogg'd by earth, or earthly things,
I'll mount, I'll fly, with eager wings,
To everlasting day.

The pomp of that tremendous day
When thou with clouds shalt come
To judge the nations at thy bar;
And tell me, Lord, shall I be there,
To meet a joyful doom?
4. Be this my one great business here—
With holy trembling, holy fear,
To make my calling sure;
Thy utmost counsel to fulfil,
And suffer all thy righteous will,
And to the end endure.
5. Then, Saviour, then my soul receive,
Transported from this vale, to live
And reign with thee above;
Where faith is sweetly lost in sight,
And hope in full, supreme delight,
And everlasting love.

 Are aliens from the skies;
 They hate thy church and kingdom, Lord;
 They mock thy fearful name;
 They glory in their shame;
 Nor heed the wonders of thy word.
3. But, O thou King divine,
 My chosen friends are thine;
 The men that still my soul sustain:
 Wilt thou my foes subdue,
 And form their hearts anew,
 And snatch them from eternal pain.
4. Escaped from every wo,
 Oh grant me here below
 To praise thy name with those I love;
 And when beyond the skies
 Our souls unbodied rise,
 Unite us in the realms above.

3. There David's greater Son
Has fix'd his royal throne;
He sits for grace and judgment there;
He bids the saint be glad;
He makes the sinner sad;
And humble souls rejoice with fear.
4. May peace attend thy gate,
And joy within thee wait,
To bless the soul of ev'ry guest;
The man that seeks thy peace,
And wishes thine increase,
A thousand blessings on him rest.
5. My tongue repeats her vows—
“Peace to this sacred house,”
For here my friends and kindred dwell;
And since my glorious God
Makes thee his bless'd abode,
My soul shall ever love thee well.

Key of E

1. Ye tribes of A-dam, join With heav'n and earth and seas, And offer notes divine To your Cre - ator's praise. Ye ho - ly throng Of angels bright, In worlds of light, Begin the song.

Key of D

2. Thou sun, with dazzling rays, And moon, that rul'st the night, Shine to your Maker's praise, With stars of twinkling light. His pow'r declare, Ye floods on high, And clouds that fly In empty air.

Key of D

3. The shining worlds above In glorious order stand, Or in swit courses move, By his supreme command. He spake the word, And all their frame From nothing came, To praise the Lord.

Key of D

4. He mov'd their mighty wheels In unknown a-ges past; And each his word fulfils, While time and na - ture last. In dif'rent ways, His works proclaim His wondrous name, And speak his praise.

Key of D

1. The Lord Je - ho - vah reigns, His throne is built on high; The gar - ments he as - sumes Are light and ma - jes - ty;

Key of D

His glo - ries shine with beams so bright, No mor - tal eye can bear the sight.

Key of D

2. The thunders of his hand
Keep the wide world in awe;
His wrath and justice stand
To guard his holy law;
And where his love resolves to bless,
His truth confirms and seals the grace.
3. Through all his ancient works
Surprising wisdom shines;
Confounds the powers of hell,
And breaks their curs'd designs;
Strong is his arm, and shall fulfil
His great decrees, his sov'reign will.
4. And can this mighty King
Of glory condescend?
And will he write his name,
"My father, and my friend?"
I love his name, I love his word!
Join, all my powers, and praise the Lord.

BRADFORD. H. M.

Arranged from HAYDN

Key of A

1. How pleasing is the voice Of God, our heav'nly King, Who bids the frosts retire, And wakes the lovely spring! Bright suns arise, The mild wind blows, And beauty grows Thro' earth and skies.

Key of A

2. The morn, with glory crown'd, His hand arrays in smiles: He bids the eve decline, Rejoicing o'er the hills: The evening breeze His breath perfumes; His beauty blooms In flow'rs and trees.

Key of A

3. With life he clothes the spring, The earth with summer warms: He spreads th' autumnal feast, And rides on wintry storms: His gifts divine Thro' all appear, And round the year His glories shine.

Key of G

1. Re - joice, the Lord is king, Your God and King a - dore; Mor-tals, give thanks, and sing, And tri-umph ev - er - more: Lift up the heart, lift up the voice, Re - joice a - loud, ye saints, re - joice, Re - joice a - loud, ye saints, re - joice.

Key of G

2. Rejoice, the Saviour reigns,
The God of truth and love;
When he had purged our stains,
He took his seat above. Lift up, &c.
3. His kingdom cannot fail,
He rules o'er earth and heaven;
The keys of death and hell
Are to our Jesus given. Lift up, &c.
4. He all his foes shall quell,
Shall all our sins destroy,
And every bosom swell
With pure seraphic joy. Lift up, &c.
5. Rejoice in glorious hope;
Jesus, the Judge, shall come,
And take his servants up
To their eternal home.
We soon shall hear th' archangel's voice,
The trump of God shall sound, Rejoice.

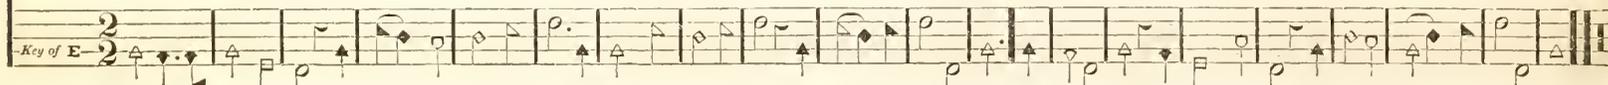

1. Join all the glorious names, Of wis - dom, love, and power, That ever mortals knew, Or an - gels ever bore: All are too mean To speak his worth, Too mean to set The Saviour forth.

2. Great Prophet of our God, Our tongue shall bless thy name; By thee the joyful news Of our salvation came,— The joyful news Of sins forgiven, Of hell subdued, And peace with heaven.

3. Jesus, our great High Priest, Has shed his blood and died; Our guilty conscience needs No sa - cri - fice beside: His precious blood Did once a - tone, And now it pleads Before the throne.

4. O thou almighty Lord, Our Conqueror and our King, Thy sceptre and thy sword, Thy reigning grace we sing: Thine is the power; Oh, make us sit In willing bonds Beneath thy feet.

ZEBULON. H. M.

1. Ye dy - ing sons of men, Immersed in sin and wo! Now mer - cy calls a - gain, Its message is to you! Ye perishing and guilty, come! In mercy's arms there yet is room.

2. No long - er now de - lay, Nor vain excuses frame; Christ bids you come to - day, Though poor, and blind, and lame: All things are ready, sinners, come! For ev'ry trembling soul there's room.

3. Drawn by his dy - ing love, Ye wand'ring sheep, draw near! He calls you from above, The Shepherd's voice now hear: To him whoever will may come, In Je - sus' arms there still is room.

1. Welcome, de-light-ful morn, Thou day of sa - cred rest; I hail thy kind re - turn; Lord, make these moments bless'd. From the low train of mor - tal toys, I

2. Now may the king descend,
And fill his throne of grace;
Thy sceptre, Lord, extend,
While saints address thy face:
Let sinners feel thy quick'ning word,
And learn to know and fear the Lord.
3. Descend, celestial Dove,
With all thy quick'ning powers;
Disclose a Saviour's love,
And bless these sacred hours:
Then shall my soul new life obtain,
Nor Sabbaths be indulged in vain.

I'll strength-en thee, help thee, and cause thee to stand, Up-held by my righteous, om-ni-po-tent hand.

For I will be with thee, thy troubles to bless, And sanc-ti-fy to thee thy deep-est dis-tress.

The flame shall not hurt thee, I only de-sign Thy dross to con-sume, and thy gold to re-fine.
 And when ho-ry hairs shall their tem-ples a-dorn, Like lambs they shall still in my bo-som be borne.
 That soul, though all hell should en-dea-vour to shake, I'll nev-er—no nev-er—no nev-er for-sake."

2. Hark! hark! to God the cho - rus breaks, From ev' - ry host, from ev' - ry gem; But one a - lone the Saviour speaks, It is the Star of Beth - le - hem.

3. Once on the raging seas I rode—
The storm was loud, the night was dark;
The ocean yawned—and rudely blowed
The wind that tossed my foundering bark.
4. Deep horror then my vitals froze;
Death-struck, I ceased the tide to stem,
When suddenly a star arose,
It was the Star of Bethlehem.

5. It was my guide, my light, my all;
It bade my dark forebodings cease;
And through the storm, and danger's thrall,
It led me to the port of peace.
6. Now safely moored—my perils o'er,
I'll sing, first in night's diadem,
For ever and for evermore,
The Star—the Star of Bethlehem.

BONUM EST.

REV. W. JONES.

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. Both staves are in the key of B major, indicated by two sharps (F# and C#) and a 2/2 time signature. The top staff contains a vocal line with various note values and rests. The bottom staff contains a piano accompaniment line with chords and single notes.

1. It is a good thing to give thanks un- - - - to the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, - - - - O Most Highest; 2.
 3. Upon an instrument of ten strings, and up- - - - on the lute; and upon a loud instrument, - - - - and to up- - - - the Ho - ly harp. 4.
 5. Glory be to the Father, and - - - - to the Son, and - - - - the Ho - ly Ghost; 6.

The second system of musical notation continues the piece. It features two staves in the key of B major. The vocal line in the top staff includes lyrics and rests. The piano accompaniment in the bottom staff provides harmonic support with chords and melodic lines.

2. To tell of thy loving-kindness early - - - in the morning, and of thy truth - - - - in the night - - - - season; 3.
 4. For thou, Lord, hast made me glad - - - through thy works; and I will rejoice in giving praise for the ope- - - - ra - - - - tions of thy hands. 5.

 5. Let the people praise thee, . . . . . O - - - - - God; . . . . . yea, let all the . . . . . peo - ple . . . . . praise - - - thee. 6.

Key of G

2. That thy way may be . . . . . known upon earth, thy saving . . . . . health a - mong all nations. 3.
 4. O let the nations re- . . . . . joice and be glad; for thou shalt judge the folk rightcously, and govern the . . . . . nations. 5.
 6. Then shall the earth bring . . . . . forth her increase; and God, even our own God, shall . . . . . give - - - us his blessing. 7.

Key of G

7. God shall bless us, and all the ends of the world shall fear him. . . . .

1. O sing unto the Lord a new song; for he hath done marvelous things.
 3. The Lord declared his salvation; his righteousness hath he openly showed in the sight of all people.
 5. Show yourselves joyful unto the Lord, ye servants of the Lord; for the Lord is with you.
 7. With trumpets also shall ye praise the Lord; with psaltery and organ, with harp and lute, with pipes and strings.
 9. Let the floods clap their hands, and let the hills be joyful together before the Lord.
 11. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son; and to the Holy Ghost;

2. With his own right hand, and with his holy arm, hath he gotten himself the victory.
 4. He hath remembered his mercy and truth toward the house of Israel; and all the ends of the world have seen the salvation of our God.
 6. Praise the Lord upon the harp; sing to the harp with a psalm of thanksgiving.
 8. Let the sea make a noise and all that dwell therein, they that dwell there-in.
 10. With righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people shall be quiet.
 12. As it was in the beginning, now, and ever, world without end. Amen.

ANTHEMS, HYMNS, &c.

Again the day returns of holy rest.....	270
Before Jehovah's awful throne.....	328
Be joyful in God, all ye lands of the earth.....	259
Beyond the starry skies.....	290
Come, ye disconsolate.....	254
Come, ye sinners, poor and wretched.....	253
Daughter of Zion.....	265
Great God, what do I see and hear.....	248
Great is the Lord.....	308
Hail mysterious, glorious science.....	260
Hark! the song of jubilee.....	286
Hasten, sinner, to be wise.....	244
Holy Lord God of Sabaoth.....	275
How beauteous are their feet.....	272
How heavy is the night.....	268
How pleasant thus to dwell below.....	266
I heard a great voice from heaven.....	273
I will arise, and go to my father.....	257
I will praise the Lord.....	304
Jerusalem, my glorious home.....	324
Lift up your stately heads, ye doors.....	269

Lord, dismiss us with thy blessing.....	340
Make a joyful noise unto the Lord.....	296
Now be the gospel banner.....	216
Oh praise God in his holiness.....	302
Oh praise ye the Lord.....	274
Peace, troubled soul.....	255
Poor, wilder'd, weeping heart.....	263
Praise God, from whom all blessings flow.....	305
Sanctus and hosanna.....	294
Song of praise in the night.....	322
Sons and daughters of the pilgrims.....	314
Star of Bethlehem.....	250
Strike the cymbal.....	332
The Chariot! its wheels roll in fire.....	251
The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof.....	277
The Lord descended from above.....	318
The Lord is great.....	267
The Lord is in his holy temple.....	342
The Lord is risen indeed.....	311
The Lord's Prayer.....	262
There is a calm for those who weep.....	229
There is a fountain filled with blood.....	264
There's nothing true but heaven.....	322

Unvail thy bosom, faithful tomb.....	292
Vital spark of heavenly flame.....	298
Wake, Isles of the South.....	282
Watchman! tell us of the night.....	216, 247
When the Lord shall build up Zion.....	337
When the spark of life is waning.....	245
When shall we meet again.....	258

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Mr. J. B. ATKIN,

My dear sir:—I have carefully perused, and I may say studied, your new system of musical notation in the Christian Minstrel. I am not sufficiently a practical musician to be able to form a judgment of the value of the collection of tunes contained in the book. But of one thing I am perfectly certain. You have simplified the method by which an understanding of the theory of music is conveyed to the mind in a remarkable degree. Of all the sciences to which my attention has been directed, music is the most complicated and unintelligible in the ordinary modes of instruction. If I had enjoyed the advantages of your book twenty-five years ago, it would have saved me some months of perplexing study. The impression that peculiar musical talent is necessary to comprehend the principles of music, has kept thousands from all serious attempts to become acquainted with the science. Your system is capable, I am confident, of conveying to un instructed minds such a knowledge, in a few days, as would require several months in the usual mode of instruction. At a time when there are so many pretenders to improvements in every branch of science, very few of which do not prove to be mere pretenders, you will, of course, meet with difficulties in introducing your book, but the truth is mighty and must ultimately prevail.

With great respect, I remain yours, truly,

JOEL PARKER, D. D.,

Pastor of the Clinton street Presbyterian Church.

Philadelphia, June 25, 1846.

Mr. J. B. ATKIN,

Dear sir:—I have an ear and soul for music; but of the science I am no master. Your selection of musical airs for public worship I deem excellent. In hearing one of your lectures on your improvements, I learned more of the science of music than I could ever before acquire. I shall not despair of understanding the science if I can get time thoroughly to study your "Elements of Music." With the sentiments of the Rev. Dr. Parker I fully concur.

EZRA STYLES ELY, D. D.,

Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Northern Liberties.

Philadelphia, July 9th, 1846.

Mr. J. B. ATKIN,

Dear sir:—The Christian Minstrel should command the attention of the musical public. In your work, the science of music is so simplified as to render a practical knowledge of it easily attainable. The difficulty of mastering and practically applying the common system of notation is so great that few persons whose time is limited succeed in overcoming it. You have done a good service to the church and to the community by removing the mysticism which has been hitherto unnecessarily thrown around a science whose humanizing influences can hardly be over-estimated. You have popularized music and made it accessible to the mass. Prejudice will doubtless look on your innovations with jaundiced eyes; but your system must succeed. I am satisfied that you have taken up the "umbling-blocks out of the way of the people," and henceforth he will sing his own music.

Truly your friend,

THOS. MACKELLAR.

To simplify whatever is complex, is one of the great purposes to which the genius of the age is applied. The results of this process may be seen in most of the text-books in our schools, and in every scientific manual. In the work before us, we have an illustration of this process in the science of music. As we are not prepared, from personal knowledge, to speak of its merits, we subjoin the estimate of another.

The Rev. Dr. Newton, of Mississippi, in a recent letter to the Editor, says:—"I have examined the work in manuscript, and do not hesitate to say, that the changes made by Mr. Atkin in the mode of writing music, and of presenting the whole subject, must, as soon as they are examined and appreciated, throw all previous publications into the shade. The system is founded in nature—it is simple, and in fact the only consistent intelligible system that has ever been devised."

From the Presbyterian.

THIS is an attempt to simplify the science of music, and render it more easy of acquisition. The author, in his preface, says that he has found the old system very erroneous in five particulars, in all of which he has made improvements. His reasons for these changes are then given in a very clear and explicit manner, and, in conjunction with his Introduction to the science, leave no doubt that he is acquainted with the subject of which he treats. His system is one that ought not to be passed over without examination. The Preface and Elementary Principles demonstrate that he is a man of an acute and discriminating mind; and if he has obviated some of the difficulties to the acquirement of music, caused by the common notation, he has done a good service to the community. The collection comprises about four hundred pieces, which seem to have been selected with great care. To those acquainted with the old notation, the new offers no difficulties; indeed, it will save the most practised singer some thought.

From the Mississippi Baptist.

WE have received of our friend J. B. ATKIN, by the hand of Dr. Urson, a copy of his new collection of church music. Many of our readers had the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with Mr. ATKIN, while he was in our state, and can testify to his success as a teacher of music. Mr. A. has made a laborious, and as we conceive, a most successful effort to simplify the rudiments of music, so as to bring them readily within the comprehension of scholars generally. It is a well known fact, that among the hundreds that have offered their services as teachers, not one in twenty could take a tune they were not acquainted with, and sing it in the round notes. Nearly all were in confusion in regard to time, and almost totally ignorant respecting the transposition of the scale. The two keys that have been so strenuously contended for, have always presented an insurmountable difficulty, to say nothing of other impediments that have sadly tended to retard the advancement of this highly useful and delightful science. It is easy to see how many of these difficulties are removed, from the following considerations:

1. By correcting the position of the letters on the staff half the scales are dispensed with.
2. By discarding the imaginary minor scale, there is but one to be learned.
3. The use of flats and sharps as signatures to determine the keys is laid aside.
4. Instead of nine varieties of time, he employs but two.
5. The shape of every note in the scale indicates its name.

Let no one condemn these changes until they have given them a fair examination. Prejudice and personal interest will probably raise a war against this work; but even should its use be somewhat limited thereby, it will succeed, and prove a distinguished aid to the cause of sacred music.
